Miss Thompson used two films, "Five Colorful Birds" and "Flowers at Work," to illustrate her talk.

Local National Guard Increased TO 62 Members

Men who have chosen to take their military training at home rather than in army camps have swelled the number of members of Company E, Canyon National Guard, to 62 members.

Equipment for proper training of the men has been received and the work is proceeding with more precision all the time.

Forming a center for home protection in more ways than an answer to call for arms in time of war, the National Guard now provides a way for men to receive required training without their having to leave their homes and normal pursuits of their living.

Boys who are younger than 18 years and 6 months should inquire at the Armory, which is now located in the American Legion Hall, to learn of the advantages of being members of the National Guard.

J. Blake Timmons Seeks Re-election As Representative

J. BLAKE TIMMONS

KELLY FIELD, Tex., June 26—Rep. J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo, serving his first term in the Texas House of Representatives, and now on active duty for a few weeks with the Air Force Reserves as an ROTC instructor, this week authorized the Canyon News to announce that he will be a candidate for a second term in the July 24th Democratic primary. Rep. Timmons filed for re-election with the six Panhandle county chairmen in April before his duty began.

A veteran of four years service in the Army and Air Force in every rank from private to first lieutenant, Timmons remained in the Reserve after his return from Germany and discharge in 1945 the year before his unprecedented election as Representative from District 123 without opposition.

"With the world situation what it is today, I am glad to accept this call for temporary duty with the Reserve and again offer my meager services to my country," Rep. Timmons said. "Naturally, I regret that our own Tenth Air Force Camp comes so soon before the Democratic primary that I will be unable to see all the voters of Armstrong, Carson, Potter, Randall, Deaf Smith and Oldham counties before the July 24th election.

"However, I believe the public is fully aware of the great need for preparedness to keep our country so strong that no aggressor nation or ism will dare attack us. The patriotic people of the Panhandle are particularly strong for our Organized Reserve and, I have no doubt, will understand why it will be impossible for me to see all the voters in the six counties after my encampment and before July 24.

"It will be my purpose to see as many of my constituents as possible after my Reserve training duties are over early in July, in behalf of my second-term candidacy," Rep. Timmons continued. "I will visit each county and every town before the primary to see and talk with as many voters as I possibly can.

"The people of my native district honored me beyond my fondest dreams in 1946 by electing me without opposition to the seat once occupied by such immortal Panhandle legislators as Judges J. N. Browning, W. B. Plemons and J. W. Crutchen," Rep. Timmons stated. "While I can never fully repay my debt of gratitude, I shall strive earnestly never to let down the good people who have expressed such confidence in me as their Representative.

"Of course it is impossible to please all of more than 100,000 people who live in our district. As I told you two years ago, the first plank in my platform is that I will make no promises impossible of fulfillment. But I will strive always for the Democratic ideal of the greatest good for the greatest number.

"If elected your Representative for a second term, I shall continue to be guided in every instance by what I consider to be the wishes and best interests of all our people indiscriminately.

"The biblical teaching that 'man cannot serve two masters' was a part of my raising which would prevent me from becoming a lobbyist or ac-

Voters of Ten School Districts Asked To Meet Friday For Study of Proposed Regrouping Schools

A public discussion of the proposed regrouping of school districts in Randall county will be held at the district court room on Friday night at 8 o'clock of this week, July 2.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce will sponsor such a meeting in order that voters may have all of the information necessary before going to the polls on Saturday, July 10.

Judge James Witherspoon of Hereford, attorney in the case, will be here to discuss the proposal with the voters. Judge Witherspoon is a former district judge and handled the regrouping of schools in Deaf Smith and Swisher counties.

All citizens in the Canyon Independent School District and the sending districts which are seeking to enter the Canyon district are invited to attend the meeting.

Dr. R. A. Neblett, chairman of the local school board, stated that so far there had been no misunderstanding or disagreement among the trustees of the various districts, and he hoped that citizens will attend this meeting in order that all citizens may know the facts regarding this regrouping proposal before they go to the polls on July 10.

Invitations are being mailed to business firms of Canyon, to trustees of the sending districts, and to various clubs in the districts to attend the meeting.

Mr. Burrow, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gossen, had started home from Dalhart with a load of cattle, about 10:30 at night. Mr. Burrow thought one of the cows was down in the truck, and the driver, Mr. Gossen, started to stop the truck. Mr. Burrow stepped out while the truck was still moving, stumbled and fell under the wheel. His chest was crushed.

Supreme Court Rules All 60 to Vote Without Exemption

The Supreme Court of Texas upset the decision in Howard county that would have deprived thousands of elder persons from voting. The lower court held that poll tax exemptions must be renewed annually in counties having a city with 10,000 population.

The Supreme Court reversed this decision.

This ruling would have affected only the residents of Precinct No. 9 of Randall county, who live within the city of Amarillo and Amarillo School District.

Churches To Observe 4th of July Sunday

The following churches of Canyon will observe Freedom and Democracy Sunday at their morning worship services Sunday, July 4: the Assembly of God, Baptist, Christian, Methodist and Presbyterian.

These services will help those who attend to get a better view of what part Christians must play in our world relationship if we are to continue to have freedom of worship in America, as well as further this cause throughout the world.

America has begun to walk down the road of militarism which, if continued, will bring disaster to our country, just as was the case of Germany and Japan.

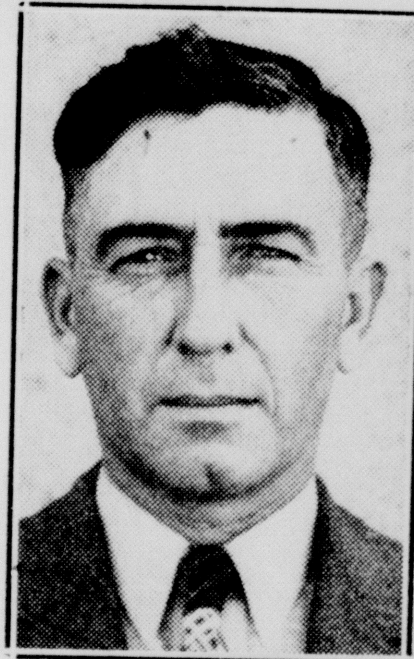

Go to church with this thought on your heart, "If my people are called by my name humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, I also will hear from the heavens and will forgive their sins and heal their land."

Citizens are complaining at the large amount of firecrackers which are being exploded within the city limits, and have called upon city officials to put a stop to the practice.

The ordinance on fireworks was passed on Dec. 14, 1906, as one of the early requirements of city government.

A political rally will be held in Canyon before the primary election, at which time all candidates will be given the opportunity of talking to the voters. The date has not been set for this rally.

Not like the brazen Giant of Greek fame,
With conquering limbs astride from land

Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall

"Keep, ancient lands, your storied pomp!"
cries she

Former Dishwasher Buys Town of 3,000

LANGELOTH, PA. — This once-bustling community of 3,000 was rescued from a "ghost town" fate by "Gus the Greek" Barbush, who as an immigrant boy got his start by washing dishes 36 years ago.

Gus saved Langeloth by the simple process of buying it—the whole town—for a reported half-million dollars.

The town's troubles began when the American Zinc and Chemical company decided to close its local zinc plant. The major industry here, it provided 800 jobs and a $9,000-a-day payroll.

Things looked pretty gloomy until Gus surveyed the scene. Gus lives in nearby Burgettstown.

Gus thought he might put Langeloth on its feet. He went to the Burgettstown bank, which showed its faith in him by advancing a $200,000 loan—largest it ever advanced to an individual.

Gus's main objective is to induce a new industry to move into the empty plant. Then he wants to improve the town by laying out a baseball diamond, fixing the park, etc.

"My plan is to run a good town," he said.

Gus admits he got a kick out of buying the town.

"It could only happen in this country," he smiled.

Charley, a Check Forger, Turns Out to Be a Woman

SAN FRANCISCO.—San Francisco police, who for weeks sought Charles H. Largey on a $250 worthless check charge, found him—and got the surprise of their life.

Largey turned out not to be a "he" but a "she"—a female ex-convict.

Police inspectors, acting on a tip, arrested Largey and took him to the rest room to "frisk him." It was then that "he" confessed that "she" was Miss Billie Larue.

She told police: "I always wanted to be a man. When I'm not in prison, I always go as one."

Study of Pigeons Shows Birds Have Numerous Superstitions

BLOOMINGTON, IND.—The superstition that makes a card player get up and walk around the table to "change his luck," can be produced experimentally in pigeons.

"Superstitious" birds were developed here by Dr. B. F. Skinner, psychologist at Indiana university.

These birds go through all sorts of strange rituals even more elaborate than that of a baseball pitcher. One goes running wildly around his cage—always in the same direction.

Another pokes his head into one of the upper corners of the cage. Another acts as if he were trying to toss something with his head. Two birds swing their heads and bodies in a sort of pendulum motion.

It was fairly easy, Dr. Skinner found, to teach the pigeons to trace their luck to such absurd gestures.

All he had to do was to rig up a clock to give food to the birds at regular intervals, entirely regardless of what the bird is doing at the moment. The bird, who is ravenously hungry, tends to repeat rapidly whatever he was doing when the food arrived.

Russian Composers Charge Hollywood Stole Their Music

MOSCOW.—Four of Russia's best known composers are accusing a Hollywood film firm of pirating their compositions to use in the movie, "The Iron Curtain."

They are Dmitri Shostakovich, Serge Prokofieff, Aram Khatchaturian and Nikolai Miaslovsky. The Soviet newspaper Izvestia published their charges.

"None of us has ever given or could give permission for utilization of our music in 'The Iron Curtain,'" the letter said.

In Hollywood, 20th Century-Fox studio officials issued this statement:

"We have used the music of these four composers in our picture, 'The Iron Curtain,' which deals with the Communist spy activities in North America, because it is stirring dramatic and therefore appropriate to the theme . . ."

These composers all were criticized by the Communist party central committee recently for formalism in their music.

Hitch-Hikers Find Thumbing More Expensive Than Fare

MEMPHIS, TENN.—Thinking of going on a hitch-hiking trip? Don't do it, says Donald Trachte.

The 17-year-old St. Louis youth had the same idea. He and two pals figured they'd hitch-hike to Florida. But they ended up walking the 319 miles to Memphis—with suitcases.

It took eight days—and cost more for food than train or bus fare would have. Police stopped them twice for questioning, Trachte said—but no rides.

Now the two pals have flown back home. And Trachte is going by bus. Motorists, Trachte said, just don't seem to like hikers any more.

Senator Robert Taft was concerned in the days just before the G.O.P. Convention by evidences that much delegate strength in the Ohio group, and in some other delegations pledged to him, really favored Senator John Bricker, or Ohio. The Bricker strength was among delegates who figured that Senator Taft was not conservative enough or not "nationalistic" enough on issues of foreign policy.

SHORT STORY

That Smelly Old Pipe

By FRANCES DAVIDS

WITH the air of a deeply wounded man, Henry Little put on his coat and hat and stalked out of the house, slamming the door. He could take slurs on his person, but there was one thing on which he drew the line. He couldn't take insults to that faithful old companion, that sympathetic friend, that trusted comforter and unflinching cheerer-upper, his pipe.

Up to now Sarah's hints hadn't bothered him, but this morning she had ceased to hint. "How long," she had demanded tartly, "am I going to have to stand it?"

Henry's small, buttony brown eyes behind the pale plastic-rimmed spectacles noted the headlines with interest. "Bandit Holds Up Another Local Store." Well, well. The police still hadn't caught the fellow, and this was the third holdup he had pulled.

"... and when I saw that hole in the rug, I wanted to scream."

"What?" he asked guiltily, conscious that he had heard only part of Sarah's remarks.

"I said," she repeated exasperatedly, "I found a hole in the rug and ashes all over the sofa last night. Now, what are you going to do about it?"

"Me? Why, er—nothing, I guess," he said lamely.

"You certainly are," she cried angrily. She wagged a threatening finger. "I'm sick and tired of finding ashes all over the place. Now you get rid of that smelly old pipe, Henry Little, or I'll get rid of it for you!"

Reaching the store he unlocked the door and went in, put on his sweater and lit up his pipe. The brightly-labelled cans on the shelves, the fresh fruits and vegetables, the dairy products, the household items, all stood in their appointed places, like old friends. Today he would have to go through the stock and reprice some of the canned goods.

THE door opened and a stocky young man came in, dressed in a dark coat with the collar up about his ears and a slouch hat down over his eyes. Dressed rather warmly for such a day, Henry thought. "Yes, sir, what can I do for you?" he asked pleasantly.

"Quiet in here today, isn't it?" the man said.

"Very," Henry agreed.

"Then put up your hands, bud, and open up that cash register," the man snarled, leveling a gun at Henry.

Henry almost fainted with surprise and shock. His knees rattled against each other, and he was powerless to move. "Come on, hurry up," the man said brusquely. The roof of Henry's mouth was so dry and parched he thought he would choke. What should he do? He couldn't fight with the man, who was younger and stronger—and besides, there was that ominous gun pointed at him.

With this terrible predicament facing him, he somehow noted that on the shelf a little beyond the bandit a can of pineapple juice was balanced precariously on another can and almost looked like it was going to fall. Henry watched it hopefully, and a wild, crazy idea formed in his mind.

Crash! The can fell to the floor, startling the thief so that he made an instinctive half-turn, and as he did so, Henry pulled out the pipe from his pocket and stuck it in the man's back. "Now put your hands up," he said hoarsely, and with as much menace as he could muster. The gun fell to the ground with a thud and Henry dragged it over with his foot and picked it up. "Go out the door and into the store next door," he ordered, his hand trembling. In the barber shop next door he told the astounded barber to call the police. . . .

It was on the front page of the Evening Clarion:

"LOCAL MERCHANT FOILS BANDIT. USES PIPE AS GUN."

All evening long people kept calling and telephoning to congratulate Henry, and late that night he sank gratefully onto the sofa and took out his pipe. Sarah, who had just come in, sniffed disapprovingly. "Henry, I—" She stopped short.

"Let me light it for you, dear," she said sweetly.

Herschel Coffee Reviews Work of Past Rotary Year

Herschel Coffee reviewed the work of the Canyon Rotary Club during the past year Tuesday as he retired as president of the club. He automatically becomes vice president of the club for the coming year.

Mr. Coffee, Dr. R. A. Neblett, incoming president, and O. W. Parker, incoming secretary, attended the district conference of the new 127th district held at Lubbock on Monday.

Announcement was made of the public meeting to be held at the court house Friday night at which time the public school regrouping will be held.

Rotary is in its 43rd year, stated the speaker. It has been organized in Canyon for 20 years. There are more than 300,000 members in the world, and the club operates in all but Communist governments.

Rotary is built on idealism, for the betterment of the individual members and the community. Its objects are international, to bring the spirit of Democracy to all people.

If Rotary was working effectively in all parts of the world, it would be a better place.

During the past year 18 members have been added to the local club, with 2 withdrawals. The club has 54 members.

The speaker pointed to a greater future for the club, with greater opportunities for the members.

Visitors were: Rev. W. H. Tolliver, of Kansas City; V. D. Armstrong of Dalhart; C. O. Fredregill of Lubbock; Earl Phillips of Hereford; T. E. Ward of Borger; John Hill, John E. Hill, R. E. Wertz; Arthur Osgood, Spencer Baird, H. N. Wheeler, Jim Rountree, all of Amarillo.

Mrs. J. B. Horton and sons, Kay, B. B. and Archie, with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Prible all of Houston visited with Mrs. Horton's aunt, Mrs. R. D. Lowry, and family on Saturday.

Coke Stevenson Runs For Senate Minus Hullabaloo

Ex-Gov. Coke Stevenson, candidate for the United States Senate, is conducting the sort of campaign that most political experts consider out-of-date.

Stevenson's light campaign car bears no painted signs or placards—not even a windshield sticker. It is not equipped with a loud speaker, and it is not part of a motor caravan. His only traveling companions are Bob Murphey of Nacogdoches, a young veteran who does the driving, and Byron Utecht, longtime Texas political writer.

When Stevenson hits a town—and he has campaigned in more than 200 Texas counties since he started last January—he sets off on a walking tour of the main street. He goes into business buildings, professional offices, county courthouses, and talks to the people.

"I figure it would be out of character for me to try to conduct a high-pressure, loud-talking campaign," the former Governor says. "I have never done that. I'm just running for the Senate on my past public record and on the principles I've always held."

His methods seem destined to confound the experts. In three successive Statewide polls on the Senate race, Stevenson has been comfortably on top.

Jeannette Shelnuitt returned home Sunday from a visit at Silverton with her sisters, Mrs. Shirley Pitts and Mrs. Kelton Newman.

Mrs. Jimmie Russell of Amarillo spent Sunday in the R. D. Lowry home.

Mrs. Oliver Grabbe and daughters are visiting with relatives in and near Melrose, N. M.

Dr. J. A. Hill spoke at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in Tulia on Tuesday.

Socialism Is Making Mess of Britain Economy

The Saturday Evening Post recently devoted a lead editorial to an interesting example of the inefficiency of socialism. Fares for commercial plane flights across the Atlantic recently went up $25. The American airlines involved had been showing a profit on their overseas business, and they didn't want to raise the rate. However, the British and French lines, which are government-owned monopolies, had been taking heavy losses and they insisted on the boost. Inasmuch as the American systems' right to fly to foreign nations rests on agreements which could be abrogated, there was nothing they could do but go along and charge the higher tariff.

Commenting on this, the Post suggests that the American plane tickets carry a legend such as: "This ticket would have cost $25 less if Socialism were working the way Socialists say it is." It then goes on to make this observation: "Never do these apostles of anti-free enterprise explain just when and where Socialist economies have delivered the goods. They content themselves with pointing out that a 'planned society' ought to deliver the goods because it's a planned society. What's the matter with asking for details of how they do it; and what's the matter with blowing our own horn, just softly, when we do it?"

This matter of the airplane fares isn't an isolated example. As soon as Britain's Labor government took over the power industry the rates were raised. Everyone knows of the doldrums her coal industry has been in. And even those businesses which are theoretically free in England are so bedeviled with red-tape, regulations, rationing schemes, and so on, that they are in a pitifully low state of efficiency.

News reports say that the Labor government seems to be slowing up in further nationalization of industry. Plans for taking over the iron and steel industries have been sidestepped by leaders. Perhaps some of the hard facts of life are coming home with impact to the socialists. The countries which have gone whole hog, and fallen for the Communist line, are in far worse shape still. At best, their peoples—save for the ruling class, which never lacks the luxuries—live on a subsistence basis.

In the meantime, the United States struggles along with much-abused free enterprise, and puts up with an unrivaled standard of living, more individual freedom than any other nation has ever known, and a government which, for all its shortcomings, is answerable to the people.

Snowplow Crews Rescue Trapped Auto Travelers

RABBIT EARS PASS, COLO.—Chet Pierce says that most folks caught in a mountain snowstorm "are so busy trying to kill themselves they don't have time to do anything sensible."

Pierce, 39, is boss of the snowplow crews which buck the big white blanket 10 months of the year here atop the continental divide.

He estimates that his men pull more than a thousand motorists out of the drifts every year.

A Rabbit Ears Pass snowstorm is not picturesque. In fact, you can't see it. Visibility is zero and the temperature often drops to 35 below.

"You don't pull that many people out of the snow without learning a little about them," Pierce said.

"Take that fella from Chicago last year.

"When I found him he'd let all the air out of his tires. He'd piled the back seat of his sedan about so high with snow and he was sitting there, stuck tight, talking to himself.

"He told me any fool could see he'd let the air out so's to get more traction. And he'd used the snow to make his rear end heavy. After I told him the score he wanted to know if I'd mind piping a little air into his tires—out of my tires."

9,700 Feet Above Sea Level

This raw snow-bleached strip of the world is known to Pierce and his plow jockeys at Bunny hill. It's about 9,700 feet above sea level. In some spots the highway towers 1,000 feet above the valleys.

The pass is named for a rusty rock formation which some imaginative pioneer decided resembled a rabbit's ears.

A year's snowfall in the mountain-pass country has been known to tickle the 80-foot mark. Five feet of snow tell there in one week.

"When you know snow," Pierce said, "it doesn't scare you so much. But we get folks through here that never saw frost outside of an ice-box.

"They get panicky. Sometimes they just stand alongside their cars scratching at the fenders and crying."

Motorists Get Angry

An occasional motorist gets angry when the plow jockeys stop him at the top of the pass and insist he either put on tire chains, or turn back.

One such driver told Pierce that Pierce had "no respect for human nature." That was five years ago. The plow boss is still trying to figure that out.

Pierce and his men live in a log cabin camp near the peak of the pass.

The crew—which ranges from six to eight men—is composed mostly of youngsters who were raised on ranches. All are Coloradans. They all know Bunny hill as well as you know the trail from living room to kitchen.

This comes in handy at night when the blade of a man's plow is nudging along the lip of a canyon and the trees below look no bigger than the buttons on a baby's coat.

"You know," said Plow Driver Warren Gleason, smiling up the slope, "this may not be God's country. But one thing's certain. If the Lord ever wants it, he won't have to stoop very far to get it."

Steep Mexican Chicle Prices Discourage U. S. Gum Makers

MEXICO CITY.—High prices have driven leading United States chewing-gum manufacturers from the Mexican chicle market.

As a result, the industry is practically paralyzed. Exports are down approximately 96 per cent, compared with a year ago.

For years American companies had absorbed more than 90 per cent of the Mexican chicle production.

In the 1946-'47 season, these buyers obtained 17,630,800 pounds of Mexican chicle. For the 1947-'48 season, the contracts are reported to be only for 770,000 pounds.

Civilians in the United States are said to chew annually an average of 107 sticks of gum each.

But World War II saw gum made an important item in the food kits of soldiers. This caused business to boom, and American companies were said to have built big stockpiles to supply the demand.

Plowman, Bitten by Assailant, Can't Make Mule Understand

MURFREESBORO, TENN. — A Negro plowman whose lip was bitten off in a fight sued his assailant because he fears his mule will no longer understand orders.

Howard Massey, attorney for Herman Robertson, who is asking $1,500 damages from another Negro, said after filing suit:

"My client greatly fears that he has suffered such an impediment of speech that he will never be able to make his plow mule understand him again."

Massey said Robertson also feared that a goatee in which he took pride will not grow back.

A physician sewed the dismembered lower lip back on. Massey said the repair job apparently was a success.

Reading Papers Often Brings Aid On Social Security

Newspaper clippings are often the keys that unlock the door to social security payments for young widows and their children, according to J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Administration.

Few days pass during which the Amarillo office fails to receive one or more letters enclosing a newspaper clipping. In other instances the widow brings the clipping to the office. What she wants to know is, "Does this mean me? Can I get benefits?" In a large number of cases the social security office is able to tell her, "It does mean you. You can get benefits for yourself and your children."

Sanderson said his office had long recommended that every worker tell his family about the survivors benefits in the Social Security Act, and that the family get in touch with the nearest office in case of the worker's death. There are still, however, some widows and other survivors who do not realize their rights until a newspaper item calls social security to their attention.

"Social Security," Sanderson concluded, "can do the greatest good for the greatest number of people, when everyone has a full understanding of his rights and duties under the law. The newspapers of this area are playing a very important part in making this general public understanding possible."

Mr. Truman is outmaneuvering his opponents in the South and at this time is in a position from which he cannot be dislodged by any forces now in sight. Nomination seems assured on the first ballot at the Democratic Convention in July.

Jew-Arab Mess Causes Break Anglo Relation

Even the interminable debate over U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations hasn't been able to obscure the Palestine problem. The once-quiet Holy Land, which used to seem almost as remote as another planet to most Americans, is now at the core of the world's difficulties. The warfare which is going on there is not a localized contest between the Jews and the Arabs. It has an ominously direct bearing on the prospects for world peace, and for world economic rehabilitation.

The most startling development in the Palestine crisis was President Truman's recognition of the new Jewish state, Israel. Israel is a tiny and poor country, and its population is under a million. It cannot sustain itself. Mr. Truman's recognition was given with almost unprecedented suddenness—Israel's government was not even completely organized. There are grounds for believing that he acted against the advice of some top State Department officials. And one result of that action was to create the first serious cleavage between us and England.

Britain, once more or less neutral when it came to Jew-Arab differences, has been supporting the Arabs for a considerable time. She has supplied the Arabian states with arms and other supplies, and her position is unequivocal. It is now common knowledge that our recognition of Israel, which, in effect, aligned us against England, caused shock followed by rage in Britain's Foreign Office. On the other hand, it seemed to please the Soviet Union, which is now standing on the sidelines with a watchful eye on Middle East oil.

Oil, of course, is what gives the Jew-Arab war its worldwide significance. Of the world's known oil reserves, according to a United States News & World report summing up, the Middle East has more than 27 billion barrels out of a total of 67 billion. All the plans for world recovery, including our ERP, are based on putting this oil to use. British and U. S. oil companies, and, to a lesser extent, the French, have been carrying on intensive development of the fields, building pipelines, etc. The war has imperiled this work. In some sections construction has been halted entirely, and the danger of destruction of facilities which have been built is intense.

It is thus to the interest of all the Western powers to bring hostilities to a halt as soon as possible. But, in spite of occasional truces, no workable program acceptable to both Arabs and Jews, has been offered. The two races feel a burning hatred for each other. Both sides regard the conflict as a holy war, with all the fanaticism and passionate purpose that engenders.

The Arabs have an enormous advantage in numbers and land area. However, according to military observers, they are temperamentally unsuited to modern, organized warfare. The Jews, on the other hand, have shown a definite talent for organization. Their army and their underground are led by men with wide combat experience. They seem to be well supplied with weapons, and they are schooled in guerrilla tactics. So they have held their own.

Just how conflicting U. S. and British policy in Palestine can be reconciled, and how a peace may be secured, is the great question. The crystal ball is clouded now. But everyone is agreed that it must be done if the world is to have the vital Middle Eastern oil, and the Western powers' plans for world rehabilitation are to go through.

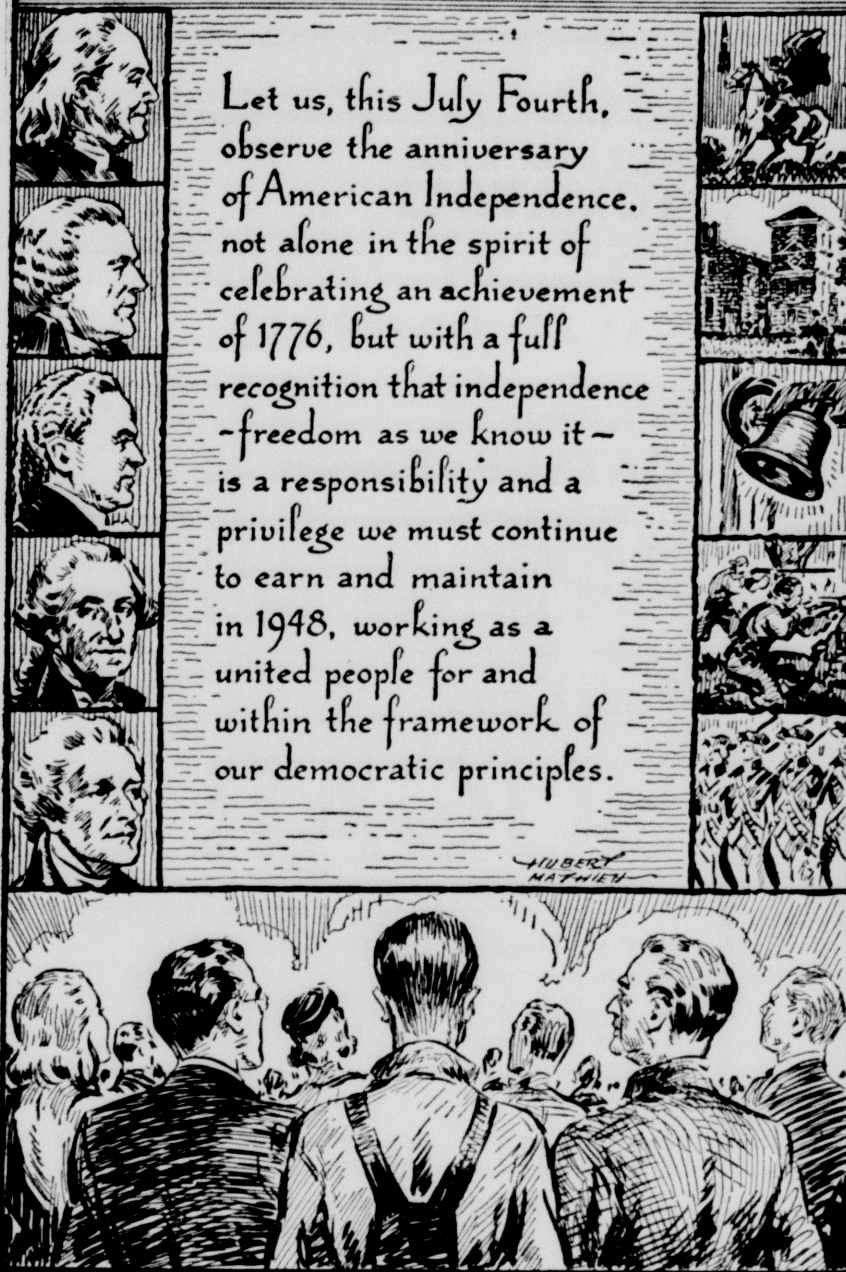

Paul Hoffman, Administrator of aid to Europe, is discovering that European nations are stepping up requests for consumer goods from U. S. and scaling down their requests for capital equipment. Those countries give some signs of viewing the aid program as a relief rather than a recovery program and want to get their share while the getting is good. Capital equipment usually involves loans. Consumer goods usually are gifts.

Averell Harriman, U. S. spokesman in Europe for the Marshall Plan, is discovering that the 16 co-operating European nations are ganging up against what they consider U. S. dictation. Normally, the 16 nations have plenty of differences. Now they're united in opposing U. S. ideas on budget balancing, currency policies, trade barriers, and stockpiling of strategic materials for this country.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Let us, this July Fourth, observe the anniversary of American Independence, not alone in the spirit of celebrating an achievement of 1776, but with a full recognition that independence—freedom as we know it—is a responsibility and a privilege we must continue to earn and maintain in 1948, working as a united people for and within the framework of our democratic principles.

Andrei Gromyko, Russia's No. 1 representative in the U. S., recently told George Marshall, U. S. Secretary of State, that Mr. Marshall is out of touch with popular opinion in U. S. when he resists efforts of Russians to try again to get settlement of differences between the two countries. The Gromyko point was that Henry Wallace, in arguing for a new try at agreement, is nearer to the popular viewpoint.

Joseph Stalin is able to purr instead of to snarl, in part because of Russia's big 1948 wheat crop soon to be ready for harvest. Russians now are able to promise Germans in their part of Germany a ration of 2,000 calories a day against an expected 1,800 calories for Germans in the Western zone.

John J. McCloy, World Bank president, remains unconvinced that a big loan to finance development in colonial Africa will be profitable to anybody but British firms already entrenched in that area.

James Forrestal, U. S. Defense Secretary, is being mentioned as the probable future president of Princeton University, whenever the present president retires. Secretary Forrestal, if he leaves the Cabinet at the end of this year, prefers to remain in some form of public service.

cepting retainers, fees or employment from any special interest or pressure group during the term for which I may be elected as the people's Representative.

"I plan to make a tour of other parts of Texas to campaign for adoption of two constitutional amendments which I, as the Panhandle Representative on the important Constitutional Amendments Committee, helped to steer to a two-thirds vote in the last session. One provides for compulsory redistricting to nearly double the Panhandle's vote in the Texas Legislature.

"The other, also to be voted on this fall, would abolish the State's 30c per $100 valuation general revenue property tax which discriminates against the Panhandle and has ceased to be a major item of revenue since 54 of the richest down-state counties are getting the tax back for flood control purposes. Our proposal, if voted by the people, would permit those counties to continue to levy the tax locally to prevent default on flood control bonds. Other counties could continue to levy the tax locally for farm-to-market roads, exempting from this tax the first $3,000 valuation of homes.

"Panhandle voters should and, I am sure, will give both these amendments an overwhelming vote because they attempt to correct abuses of which we West Texans have long complained," Timmons added. "The fair-minded people in other sections should join with us if we can show them the justice of our claim. Your suggestions as to how this can be done will be appreciated by me when I visit your community."

Rep. Timmons, former Oldham county farm boy, Amarillo printer's helper, newsman, capital correspondent and insurance official, is a graduate of Amarillo High School and attended Amarillo College, Texas Christian University and West Texas State. He has been attending the University Law School at Austin under the GI Bill since the last legislative session and plans to take the state bar examination this year.

Enlisting as a Private immediately after Pearl Harbor, young Timmons married Miss Madeline Martin, a graduate of Our Lady of the Lake College who later attended Texas Tech, a year later. They built a GI home at 1331 Broadmoor in West Amarillo since his return from overseas in 1945. They have one child, Betty Lou, age 2.

A Scottish Rite Mason, Elk and Deacon in the Southern (Elwood Park) Presbyterian Church, Rep. Timmons, along with three younger brothers, is also a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

DEWEY AND WARREN

GOP has spoken, and its Dewey again, with Governor Warren of California as his running mate.

Dewey has a wonderful radio voice, but a poor personality.

Warren has executive ability, and a friendly disposition which appeals to Democrats as well as Republicans.

Dewey has learned a lot of good politics during the past eight years since he first announced for President. Tackling the "Chief" four years ago, Dewey received the largest popular vote ever cast against Roosevelt, but his mistakes, and ice-water attitude lost him the election. We are told that the Dewey of 1948 is an entirely different man from the Dewey of 1944. He is no longer ashamed of the fact that he is small, and no longer demands a platform on which to stand in order to hide the fact that he is short of stature.

The fact that Dewey was able to break the GOP precedent of never renominating a defeated candidate is pretty good evidence that he stands high with the brass collars of the party.

Warren is promised a place in the cabinet and will be the chief adviser to Dewey, if the pair is elected in November. That is the only consideration under which Warren would accept the nomination. He was unwilling to move from his executive capacity in California to a minor role in Washington.

Yes, this was a free and open convention, with the delegates deciding the fate of the candidates—in a pig's eye! The same old gang of GOP leaders decided whom they wanted, and proceeded with their selection. Regardless of what they had to say about the rank and file deciding whom the candidates would be, the fact remains that the big boys in the smoke filled room made the final selection, after the boys on the floor howled and sang themselves to the point of exhaustion. That's the way all candidates for president are chosen, whether it be GOP or Democratic.

GOP considers that it has won the race, and is ready to move into the White House. Maybe that is true, but maybe they will be surprised in November.

President Truman made a poor showing on his western trip. But it is rumored that he will reconvene Congress and demand that GOP carry out its platform demands before November. If he does this, there will be many a red face in GOP ranks. Platforms are made to run on and never to fulfill.

The President believes that Dewey will be an easy man to defeat. He plans to visit every state in the union on his special train. Truman has gained much confidence in himself and in his ability to sway people.

On with the battle. There will be a great and grand show in these good old United States between now and November. In no other nation in the world will you find such a wide open, free-for-all political battle. And votes will be at stake.

We talked with a well informed man the other day about the important election to be held on July 10 regarding the re-grouping of school districts in Randall county.

This man said that he was not acquainted with the facts and wanted to learn more about the plan. The Chamber of Commerce has called a meeting to be held at the district court room on Friday night of this week, July 2, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the matter. It is hoped that all citizens of the ten districts affected shall be present and get the facts regarding the proposed plan. Randall county is among the last of the major counties of the Panhandle to adopt the re-grouping plan. Citizens are asked not to jump to conclusions, but to attend the meeting Friday night and get first-hand information on what this plan means to the school children within these districts. After all is said and done, any improvement in our schools is for the sole benefit of the children. The children of Randall county are the greatest assets that we have, and they have a right to demand that the best possible schools shall be provided for them. Be sure to attend this meeting Friday night.

Peddy and Johnson are yapping their heads off because organized labor groups are for Stevenson. That's a peculiar attitude for two would-be politicians. No person with a thimbleful of brains will declare that the world can run without labor. The News is as much against labor racketeers as anyone in Texas, but we have always made it clear that we are against these leaders, and not against the laboring man. Coke Stevenson seeks to be fair with labor, but evidently both Johnson and Peddy seek to be entirely unfair to the laboring classes.

The fine rains of the past week will make for a large row crop acreage. The Panhandle will need all of the feed that can be raised this year.

Well, the Republicans failed to nominate our man, Stassen. Stassen was our choice largely because he was the first and only candidate for the presidency to speak in Canyon. His frankness was too frank for the big bosses. But in defeat Stassen won more friends than Dewey among the throng of delegates. He was only candidate strong enough to go to the convention hall when the balloting started and see what was happening to his cherished ambitions. He was the first to face the 14,000 GOP's and release his followers. All of the other candidates sent hired hands to do the announcing. Stassen made a lot of mistakes, and paid the penalty by being defeated. His time will come in the future, and he will be a stronger candidate than he was in 1948.

While we were down at the Texas Press Association, we heard complaints on every hand regarding the increased cost of newspaper production. A few publishers are trying to weather the storm by holding to their old prices, rationally every one has made radical advances in the price of subscriptions and advertising rates. There are more weekly newspapers in Texas getting $2.50 to $3.00 per year for subscriptions and 35c to 50c per inch for advertising that there are any other class. Just what is a publisher to do? His costs are getting out of hand, and the only way out is to charge a little more for his product. Newspaper production is like any other line of business, soaring beyond all proportions.

We see that a candidate for governor is greatly concerned as to why Governor Jester will not debate him. Just why should Jester lend his influence to advertise a politically unknown or unfit?

We had a caller the other day who represents one of the 11 candidates for U. S. Senator. His office had sent out a lot of propaganda regarding the greatness of this candidate. He is coming back this weekend to check the results and find out how many papers printed the stuff. Well, we beat him to it. Out of 75 weeklies in this area, not a single paper printed the stuff. There is such a thing as scarce news print and high wages around newspaper plants.

We see that Hereford will have a new radio station in operation about the middle of July. The air is so full of static now that hundreds of people in this area seldom turn on their radios. And more stations are being planned. Thousands of these hopeful boys who are sinking thousands of dollars in these little stations are getting ready to lose their shirts.

We see by the papers that a Chinese student down at Denton received a letter from home. It took only $110,000 in postage to bring the letter. That shows you what printing press money will do to a nation. We feel a little more satisfied with our U. S. moderate inflation. But are not seeking any correspondents in China.

Practically every town is holding some sort of rodeo or other Fourth of July celebration. While we like to see a good rodeo, we are frank to admit there are so few of the good type that we hesitate to go to one of these affairs. Besides, it is too hot to sit out and watch the ponies ditch their riders in the dust.

These pesky flies and bugs! Bring on the fogging machine, and let's rid the town of these pests.

Chester Alan Arthur was the 21st president of the U. S.

Governor Jester Is Favorite of More Than Half Voters

It seems to the laymen of Texas that the fight against Governor Jester for a second term is gross foolishness. So far the Governor has refused to notice any of his 8 opponents in the race.

According to the Belden Poll, Jester has more than 50% of the votes of the state, with about 25% of the voters not making up their minds so far. This leaves 25% to be distributed among 8 candidates.

East Texas Exes To Breakfast

Special attention is called to the East Texas State College Breakfast to be held on July 6 at 8 a.m. in the Blue Room of the College Cafeteria at West Texas State. Any person who has attended East Texas State is urged to be present. This will give opportunity for meeting Dr. James Gee, the East Texas president, and for visiting with old friends. No reservations are necessary.

Governor Thomas Dewey of New York made an intensive effort to cultivate his radio technique in an effort to get a feeling of warmth and friendliness into his voice. The Governor in 1944 had left something of a feeling of coldness and harshness in radio speaking that didn't win votes so readily.

Whose Side Is He On, Anyway?

My First Flight
In an Airplane:
Some Advice Too

By M. E. Cleavinger, Sr.

When I made reservations on a T.W.A. plane for my trip to Los Angeles in June, I was told to be at the airport at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, ready to leave at 2:30. This was my first time to go up in a plane. Excited? Of course I was. There I was at the field at 2:00 o'clock. What happened? That plane was late! We took off at 4:00 o'clock.

It was smooth sailing for a while. I did not realize we were off the ground until we passed over the railroad and highway skirting the north side of the field. I expected to fly over Amarillo then on west to Albuquerque. But instead we went north, following the Canadian river on out past Las Vegas to Santa Fe, our first landing.

I want to stop here to tell you a little something about our hostesses. (I do not want to say too much about them or all you old fellows will be wanting to take a plane ride.) They were two little brunettes and looked enough alike to be twins. First they came around and helped me adjust my seat at just the right angle so that I could ride comfortably. Then they passed chewing gum around. After a little while they passed glasses of iced tea with some dainty little cakes which just hit the spot.

As I have said it was pretty smooth flying until we got out near Santa Fe. Then the plane would rock a little bit, actually it felt as if it had hit something and it kept on doing that until that tea I had drunk got to slopping around in my stomach and just a wee bit of it kinda slopped over a little bit, not enough to do any harm, yet. I was going to be all right!

We landed at Santa Fe, got out, stretched and walked around for about five or ten minutes. Then we took off for Winslow, Arizona.

Shortly after taking off from Santa Fe, the plane began to get rather bumpy again. I noticed the hostess stirring around a little unusually and up in front I noticed in red letters,

"No Smoking. Tighten Seat Belts." Pretty soon the right wing of that plane dropped a way down, gradually came back up; then the left wing took a dip, came back up, levelled off. Then the ship seemed to hit a bump and seemed to go upward some. Then everything seemed to drop out from under and down we came—everything but that tea my genial hostess had served me. That just splashed all over my brand new suit I had bought to wear to attend my granddaughter's wedding. That was bad! But my hostess soon saw the situation and soon had me brushed off. Then she brought me a paper carton something like an ice cream container so that in case any more of that tea should slop over I would have something to catch it in. The ride continued bumpy almost all the way to Winslow but not quite so bad as the one bump described.

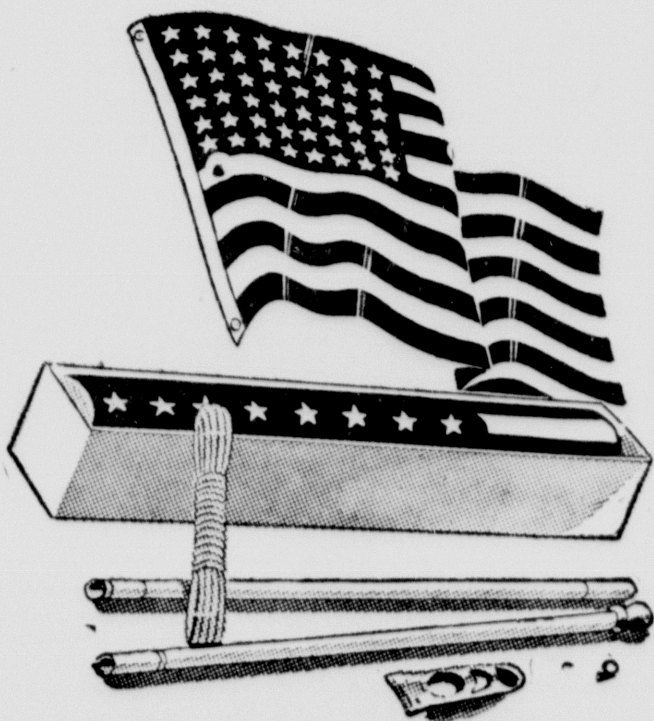

After we had landed at Winslow and stirred around a bit we took off for Phoenix, Arizona. I believe it was along here some where our hostess began serving dinner. My, how I wanted to partake of that dinner, but I was just a little bit afraid it would want to go the way of that tea—I refused to eat.

We landed in Phoenix just as the sun went down. Think of it—4 o'clock in Amarillo, in Phoenix at sundown; the fastest travelling I ever did!

From Phoenix on to Englewood Field, Los Angeles, was uneventful. We arrived there at 10 p.m. Pacific time. Just eight hours on the road! I had wired my son Jesse the time I was scheduled to be there but failed to say which line I would be on and the number of the flight. Englewood is a much larger field than English field. Since Jesse did not know at which gate I would be, he was not there as I had expected; and it took us some time to find each other.

If any of you contemplate taking a trip by plane and you wire ahead, be sure that you tell the line you are coming on and the number of the flight if possible. Then the person meeting you will know which gate to wait for you.

Cancer Deaths In Texas Has Increase
18% in 2 Years

An increase of more than 18 per cent in Texas cancer deaths during the five years between 1943 and 1947 has been announced by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Texas mortality tables compiled by the Texas State Department of Health show 1947 cancer deaths at 5,557, as compared to 6,770 for 1947.

"The greater part of this tremendous increase in cancer deaths is attributable to needless delay in seeking treatment, once a person has reason to suspect he has a cancerous growth," Dr. Cox said. He added his belief that advertising of patent medicines and so-called cancer quacks puts dangerous and misleading information before the public, thereby adding to the cancer mortality rate. This is because people are lulled by such propaganda and do not receive proper diagnosis and treatment until too late.

Dr. Cox said that almost two-thirds of all cancer cases rely on surgery to remove the cancerous tissue, while the other third may respond to X-ray or radium treatment. "These three methods are the only means by which the disease can be treated," he said. "Self medications, serums, colored lights, pastes, and diets are absolutely useless."

The Health Officer pointed out that the greatest defense against cancer is an early diagnosis and competent treatment by a reputable physician. He urged especial attention to any unnatural bleeding from any body opening, lumps in the breast, and skin sores which fail to heal normally. Only about one seventh of an iceberg floats above water.

Burglar Walks Off With 10,000 Bees; No Stings Attached

MILWAUKEE.—The theft of one hive and destruction of another had two Milwaukee county beekeepers buzzing angrily.

Whoever walked off with a colony of 10,000 bees that belonged to J. P. Kallas, 5735 Milwaukee River parkway, really knew what he was doing, Kallas said. The thief picked a chilly night when the bees would be inactive, and he brought his own lid for the hive. The little stingers apparently didn't give him a bit of trouble.

His colony is worth about $20, Kallas said. But it would have multiplied to a honey factory with 60,000 workers when the clover starts to bloom. By then, it would have been producing about 10 pounds of honey a day, and honey is worth about 30c a pound.

Kallas had one hope left. If the thief didn't take the bees more than a mile, and if the weather turns very warm in a day or so, they may come home again. But, said Kallas, the man who took them probably knows that.

Other prowlers who tried to take a hive that belongs to Fred H. Krahn, 1738 S. 30th street, muffed the job.

Using a wheelbarrow, they rattled a hive from its site in an orchard at S. 43rd street and W. Grange avenue, town of Lake, to the street. Mad, the bees stung the thieves, who spilled the hive on the pavement. The box was smashed and the bees died.

Horses Run Amuck in Town; Wreck Auto and Stop Sign

MOLINE, ILL.—Police Magistrate Ralph Stephenson had to delve into history to find a complaint on which to issue a warrant for the arrest of Frank Powell, Rock Island, Ill.

Powell left a team of horses unattended in an alley. Children threw rocks at them and they bolted.

They wrecked the wagon, damaged an automobile, almost ran into the front window of a tavern and crashed into a stop sign.

Powell was charged under an 1872 ordinance with leaving horses unattended.

Butterflies Flit Across Atlantic

LONDON.—If you happen to see a butterfly flutter by with a license plate attached to its tail, run to the phone and put in a trans-Atlantic call to T. Bainbridge Fletcher in London, England.

He is probably the guy who attached the license.

The licensing scheme is Fletcher's own project. He hopes to learn more about the migratory habits of butterflies.

Up to the last report no Fletcher-licensed butterfly is known to have strayed more than 50 miles but don't discount the possibility of a butterfly flying the Atlantic.

A brightly colored American Monarch was snared in the autumn of 1932.

This ocean flier was promptly caught in England by Sir Beckwith Whitehouse, a great butterfly man, and eventually sold for $41.

Since that time 80 other butterflies have crossed the ocean, all west to east, according to Dr. D. B. Williams, who probably knows more about butterflies than any other man alive.

All Williams' ocean fliers are Monarchs. Williams has discovered they migrate 2,000 miles, spending the winter in Florida and the summer in Canada.

Butterflies have more sense than to get lost, Williams says. In fact, he says, he is amazed at the way butterflies stay on course despite winds, the Monarchs breezing along at a steady 16 miles an hour.

At this top speed a Monarch crosses the ocean on the great circle route in about 5½ days.

Bank Teller's Tardiness Reveals Embezzled Funds

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Bank Teller Harry C. Delaney wished sincerely that he had not been tardy for work.

If he had been on time, a substitute teller wouldn't have discovered that Delaney had embezzled $14,150 from the Mississippi Valley Trust company where he worked for 26 years.

Delaney admitted the embezzlement to FBI agents who questioned him. He said he began taking funds two years ago to supplement his $205 monthly salary.

Census Takers in Zoo Have Problems of Multiplication

PHILADELPHIA.—Noah marched the animals into the ark two by two—and brought them out the same way. But things are different at the Philadelphia zoo these days.

It's counting time and the harried keepers and attendants have double trouble taking the annual mid-winter count of specimens.

Each time a count is completed, a different total is arrived at, animals and nature being what they are.

Counting noses is all right as far as the hippos, elephants, chimps and the rhinoceroses are concerned. That goes, too, for the tigers, lions, Shetland ponies and the bears.

But the monkeys won't hold still. Since most monkeys look like other monkeys, the adding machines whirl merrily every time a count is attempted.

Some of the prairie dogs are contentedly asleep, but underground. Turtles have dug themselves deep in the rocks of their tank.

By the time it's all over, zoo officials hope to have accounted for some 2,000 guests.

Elderly Couple Marries After Courtship by Mail

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—An 84-year-old retired Colorado railroad man and a 75-year-old North Carolina woman who met after a courtship by mail were married here.

"I was walking down the street in La Junta, Colo., and I was feeling lonely," explained William O. Musgrove. "I saw a magazine on the street and picked it up. This struck my eye."

He exhibited an article inserted by Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Pence, of Kannapolis, N. C. It contained her hobbies and address, and explained she'd like to correspond with some folks.

"Well, I went right in the house and wrote a letter to her," said Musgrove.

Nine Girls, college classmates, go off to a mountain clubhouse for a holiday full of carefree fun, and in their midst, terror strikes!

That is the description of "Nine Girls", the play to be presented Thursday night at 8:15 in the Education Auditorium.

Everyone will enjoy "Nine Girls." It is a mystery comedy written by Wilfrid H. Pettitt, and there will be laughs along with the suspense.

Clella Pearson, senior from Spearman, will play the part of Jane, the resourceful medical student to whom the others turn for advice.

June Russell Malone, senior from Follett, plays Eve, clear-headed and courageous.

Freida, the parlor pink, will be portrayed by Alice Hicks, transfer from Wayland College.

Sybil Ann Gillis, junior from Canyon, will be Alice, the murder-bait.

Sharon, will-o-the-wisp type, will be played by Patricia Jean Smith, a senior transfer from Panhandle A & M.

The athletic one in the group, "Shotput", is played by Paula Frazier, senior from Waco.

The two sorority pledges are played by Gayle Stilwell, freshman from Memphis, and Melba Ruth Grady, junior from Clarendon. Gayle is Shirley in the play, and Melba Ruth is Betty, dubbed "Tennessee" by her accent.

Jane Whitaker Collins, speech major from Canyon, is Mary, the girl from the wrong side of the tracks.

The role of Phyllis will be played by Ann Coker, junior from McLean.

Frances Lynn Townes, junior from Amarillo, is student director for the play.

The set for "Nine Girls" is unusually good. Wendell Cain has designed a cabin done in knotty pine that will be well worth seeing. Many hours have gone into making the knot holes and grain in the wood.

Admission for the play is 60 cents for students and outsiders, and 30 cents for children.

California Sea Lion Wears Toilet Seat as Neck Piece

SAN FRANCISCO.—A sea lion which lives on the Seal Rocks off San Francisco beach has stuck its big neck through a floating toilet seat, and it apparently can't get the thing off.

Where Buster—that's what Cliff House balcony observers call him from their vantage point overlooking Seal Rocks—found the bathroom fixture is a mystery. It is of the horseshoe type, and a gleaming white.

The other seals on the rocks at first shunned Buster, and then clustered around to inspect the new collar.

Dr. Robert T. Orr, curator of mammals of the California Academy of Sciences, said that the collar ought to be removed but that there is a chance Buster will get along all right anyway—barring a nervous breakdown.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the coast guard and the navy have all pondered the problem of what will happen to Buster, but they have reached no conclusion. S. P. C. A. officials wondered how they could reach the rocks, which are 100 yards offshore and are in the midst of heavy surf that would wreck small boats.

Mother, 19, Hides Newborn Baby in Garbage Parcel

MINNEAPOLIS.—A newborn baby boy, found among garbage parcels on a city truck, is alive and well at Minneapolis general hospital.

Walter Lindell said he found the child when he investigated a newspaper-wrapped package which stirred after being dumped into his truck from a refuse can. He called an ambulance.

Police, arriving with the ambulance, found a 19-year-old girl in the crowd that had gathered. She became hysterical at questioning, then sobbed that she had given birth to the child an hour earlier.

Pending further questioning, she was reunited with her baby at the hospital. Both are in good condition.

Chemist Predicts End Of Oil Changes in Autos

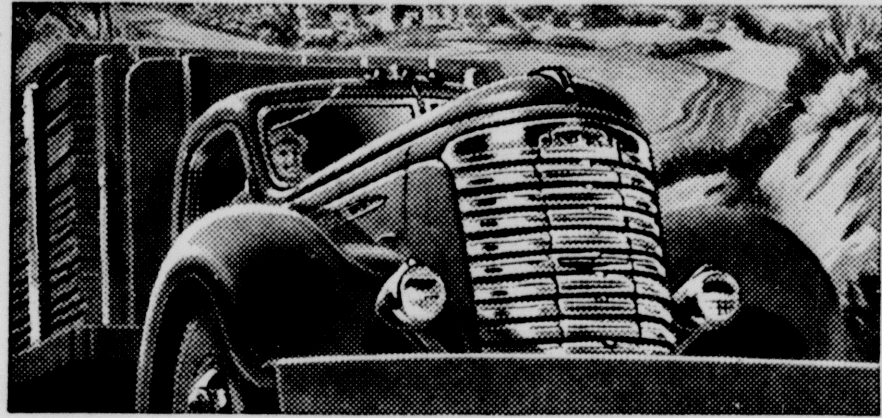

BIRMINGHAM, ENG.—Professor Maurice Stacey told the Royal Institute of Chemistry that a new compound will permit automobiles to run a lifetime with no change of oil.

Stacey said the compound is based on fluorine, which eliminates hydrogen from oils and makes them non-inflammable.

Present lubricants have to be changed mainly because they partly burn. With the oil non-inflammable it will be practically everlasting, provided the cars have good oil filters and the lubrication system does not leak, Stacey said.

SHORT STORY

The Killer's Target

By KATHYRN WILSON

JOE SAND, bank clerk, had decided to kill a man. Looking back on his 47 years, he realized how spineless they had been. Without knowing exactly what to do about it, he had long since grown tired of fetching and carrying for exacting Elmer Dunning, president of Webbville's First National bank. And what had happened lately left his spirits flatter than any ledger line.

John Morrie, the cashier, resigned to take a job in an eastern city and the cashier job in old First National became the plum ready to drop into the lap of some lucky man. Joe was next in line for promotion, but he was worried.

He wanted to ask Dunning about the board's plans and didn't have the courage. The small blue eyes in his bony face filled with fear at the thought of such audacity. Somehow he couldn't stretch the narrow shoulders on his short thin frame to the necessary width of confidence.

IN SHORT order Joe's hopes were dashed to oblivion. Why did some fellows have all the luck? That young upstart, Harry Coats, who'd been brought on from New York, made cashier over the heads of the four men having seniority in the bank's marble elegance! Resentment blazed high until the three younger men got to liking Coats well enough to forgive him.

But Joe Sand, thoroughly incensed, couldn't forgive. He hated Coats, he hated Dunning, he hated everybody. His thoughts were cruel hot daggers slaying every moral fiber within him. He was determined—to kill!

Dunning needn't think that Joe Sands, the slave, hadn't a chickadee's guts. Just because he didn't parade a push and drive was no proof that he hadn't secret ambitions to rise in banking circles.

Joe glanced quickly around his modest room in Mrs. Miller's select boarding house. Shakily, he took a gun out of the bottom drawer of the tired-looking pine bureau, thrust it into his pocket. The weapon had belonged to his father and was rusty with neglect. It had been used for target practice in the Sand family's small back yard, but never to spill human blood. It hadn't been shot off in years. Joe hoped it wouldn't fail him — everybody and everything else had.

At the bank that noon Joe had to be reminded that it was time to go for his daily chocolate malt. Naturally taciturn, he was even more so now and his co-workers flung him questioning glances and whispered among themselves about what was "eating old Sandie." But through it all he was grimly determined. He was doing his last duty for the stalwart old bank which had supported him for 20 years. He had to get everything in order before they took him away—after the killing.

He had brought his records up to date near closing time when he happened to notice Harry Coats doing a peculiar thing. Harry, white-faced, was coming out of the vault, his arms loaded with currency.

JOE wheeled and faced a masked man on the customers' side of the cashier's window. The gun pointed at Joe was no toy.

"Put 'em up or I'll drill yuh!"

The intruder's gaze shifted to the rolls of bills. Joe's right hand dropped to his coat pocket.

Just in time, Joe dodged the bullet that whizzed past. But the shot he fired was followed immediately by the stranger's curse as he bit the floor.

As though jet propelled, Joe darted from behind the counter, and up to the still body.

"Careful, Joe!" warned Coats.

"It's a trick—he'll shoot!"

But Joe ignored caution, knelt beside the hefty stranger, laid a hand on his bloody shirt front. Then he got quickly to his feet and announced dramatically. "The skunk's dead—quite dead!"

Something like knightly valor went sailing through Joe. Why, this was odd! Never had he felt so masterful. Why, he couldn't feel inferior to anybody or anything after this! Nor afraid. Not even afraid of himself.

It was a lucky break that he hadn't gotten around to that killing he'd planned to do today. After all it would be a pity to disgrace the Sand name. No man ever got ever with anybody by putting a bullet through his own head.

Canyon Lions Club Installed Officers at Thursday Meet

The Canyon Lions Club held its annual installation of officers at the meeting last Thursday. Under the leadership of the retiring president, Dr. A. Kirk Knott, the organization has made rapid advancement during the past year. Dr. Knott was presented with the past president's pin by the incoming president, Andy Walsh. He in turn received the president's jeweled pin from the retiring president, who wished him all success in the continuance of several noteworthy projects launched by the club during the year, to be completed in future months.

Taking office with Mr. Walsh are Aubrey Crossland, first vice president, and chairman of the program committee. J. B. Hickman and Elmer Wooten are second and third vice presidents respectively. Bill Sternberg is the new Lion Tamer. The post of Tail Twister, considered of vital importance in the maintenance of club morale, is to be filled by W. J. Wooten, Jr. Succeeding himself to the office of secretary-treasurer is A. K. Goodman.

The directors of the club, whose work it is to assist the officers in the formulation of policies and adoption of new projects, consists of Al Kieselbach, W. M. Thompson, William C. Cox, and Lee Gilmore. Assisting with the music will be Leo Duflot, pianist, and Olin Huff, song leader.

The Truman Cabinet at this stage contains no trained and tried political campaigners or top-ranking politicians who can give the President help of a vital kind in the political campaign ahead. The Roosevelt Cabinet of other years was filled by men skilled in political maneuvering and in campaigning.

Student Tells of Deep Feeling for Town of Canyon and Its People

By Mrs. Blanche Scott Rutherford

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Blanche Scott Rutherford, author of the following essay, first attended West Texas State College as a high school student when the institution was a normal college. She later did her freshman and sophomore college work here. Her student number is 7866. Since she was issued that number back in the early 20's, Mrs. Rutherford has taught school and attended colleges in the summer. She has been a student in the University of Colorado and Texas Tech. Before this summer, the last time she was in WT was in the summer of 1940. Now in her senior year, Mrs. Rutherford said she had such a deep feeling about Canyon she just couldn't resist putting it down on paper. She is a second and third grade teacher in the Seth Ward school in Plainview.

THE TOWN'S CONTRIBUTION

Among the many pleasant experiences of the student who returns to Canyon at intervals is the fine atmosphere of the town itself. It is this writer's wish to express appreciation, not only for herself but for the many boys and girls who have come and gone, and for those who will yet tread these paths in future days. Surely the citizenry deserve thanks for their efforts in making the City of Canyon worthy of the home of West Texas State College and its many members.

Canyon has contributed to the welfare of its students in an outstanding material way. Clean, attractive homes are above the average; probably no town in Texas, of its size can boast so many miles of paving and concrete walks. Stately trees, shrubs, and colorful flowers have been tended with untiring hands in order to give the place a cozy and homelike appearance in a country where Nature failed to provide these attractions.

Throughout the years many homes have set aside their own privacy in order to give to the shy and lonely student a place to live where he or she might feel more secure. We cannot believe all these homes were opened for the small remuneration gained, for it is evident that money is not the idol of our townspeople. Many times jobs were provided for the student who did not have sufficient finances for staying on, when work might as well have been done by the benefactor himself.

Beautiful churches have been built and church attendance encouraged, even by those who were not so ardent themselves, because they believed it wholesome for any youth, particularly when away from home.

However, is it not of these paltry material benefits that this writer wishes to speak, but rather of the Spirit of the Place; the friendly attitude of its people, the high moral standards; the fine aura which makes the Ex-Student want to return ever so often for a visit, and that causes the teacher to again seek Re-Fresher Courses at WT. For many of us who have lived where more aloof customs prevailed, it is exhilarating to again walk the streets and campus of Canyon just to hear the many cheery "Good Mornings" and meet the genuine smiles of those who have made their investments largely in humanity.

The janitor, the business people, the humblest laborer as well as our beloved instructors and President show this same friendly spirit—this intangible something that lifts us up and inspires confidence in ourselves and in others.

In retrospect we realize that not all our lessons were learned from books. Probably some of the most worthwhile were learned from association with sturdy characters. Perhaps it was the mother or father in the home where we roomed, or the Superintendent of the Hall, or maybe it was the druggist or the cafe cook, or one of many others who sensed that the letter from home failed to come that day, and somehow made up for the disappointment. In these later years we like to recall our sojourn among these our friends and feel assured that on our return we shall receive the same hearty welcome.

May this splendid influence continue throughout the years before us; may it never be lost sight of. In the mad rush and scramble of life that so often leaves its scars, may we, the Ex-Students be able to turn both in memory and in reality to the one place nearest our Utopia, where we find quietude, an orderly way of life, where human interests come first, where selfishness has been subjugated; where high ideals are not dreamed of, but where they exist, where Christianity is not only preached but practiced, and because of these things—Where Friendships Last.

Deep River Singers To Appear Here

As in the past, the reunion will be prefaced with a memorial service Thursday night, July 29, in memory of all pioneers. Dalhart churches will join in the service. Ex-Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Junction will be the speaker.

Other events will include: Annual XIT parade, July 30, at 11 a.m.; professional rodeo and three dances each night; XIT calf scramble; clowning and other specialty acts.

Headquarters for all oldtimers will be the XIT Rangers big clubhouse. Reunion directors will be host to the oldtimers at a feed both Friday and Saturday noons.

had given our arrival an appropriate touch of the Wild West by setting off a string of firecrackers. At least, they told me it was my friend, Gib, who is a former sheriff and former Texas Ranger.

You see, I still remember the visit to those towns because somebody did something that showed they were glad we came.

I wonder how an old pioneer who wore a coonskin cap and fired a muzzle-loading rifle would feel if he could return and see a beautiful high school named for him?

Or how Jean LaFitte, the pirate, would feel if he could re-visit Galveston Island and see a hotel bearing his name?

One of fate's greatest ironies is exemplified by Austin, a lovely city named for "the Father of Texas", with a beautiful hotel there, the Stephen F. Austin, with air-conditioning, steam heat, paintings and swift elevators.

Stephen F. Austin died from pneumonia contracted from working for the advancement of Texas in a log house in the winter time without a fire.

Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, gave Governor Dewey the advice that helped to shape his pre-Convention methods. On request, Senator Morse told Mr. Dewey that his one chance to make a comeback was to get out to the crossroads and talk to people in a way that would overcome the feeling that he was "cold and calculating." It was his Oregon victory over Harold Stassen that gave Mr. Dewey his comeback chance.
